RATE MAKING POWER AT STAKE

Washington, D. C., April 4—Following the Easter recess the Supreme Court of the United States reconvened with the prospect that it will have little leisure time on its hands during the remainder of the term. The first important case on the docket for hearing is the so-called Missouri rate case, involving the power conferred upon the Interstate Commerce Commission by the Hepburn law to fix rates where railroads are found to be overcharging. This point is vital toward rendering effective the work of the commission. The decision will also affect the rates of every railroad in the country so far as they are concerned by the commission's authority to reduce them when found to be exorbitant.

OBITUARY

Edward L. Boynton
Edward L. Boynton, who was born and raised in Mt. Vernon, and who had many friends in this city, died Sunday afternoon in the tubercular ward of the Franklin county infirmary, Columbus, after an illness of three months.

Death was due to tuberculosis of the stomach and paralysis. Mr. Boynton was 46 years of age and spent a greater portion of his life in Mt. Vernon until several years ago he moved to Columbus and for some time was in charge of the billiard room at the Great Southern Hotel. On account of ill health he was compelled to give up his work. He was married, being divorced from his wife. He is survived by several brothers and sisters, one brother being Dr. Greeley Boynton of Columbus. For many years the deceased was a member of Mt. Mitchell and Mr. Mac F. Stephen, in company with Undertaker Chappelear, went to Columbus Sunday to claim the remains and accompany them to Mt. Vernon on Monday.

The remains reached the city Monday afternoon and were taken to the Elks home where the funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment in Mount View cemetery.

FRAUD TRIAL IN COPENHAGEN

Copenhagen, April 4.—The trial of Mons. Christensen, at one time Minister of War and Marine, and Mons. Berg, former Minister of the Interior, on charges of fraud, began today. The former cabinet officers are alleged to have been implicated in the colossal frauds of Peter A. Alberti is said to have lost the money through rash investments in American stocks.

"WETS" AND "DRYS" CLASH IN MICHIGAN

Detroit, Mich., April 4.—In thirty-six counties of Michigan elections are held today, at which the "Wets" and the "Drys" oppose each other to decide upon the question of local option. Twenty-six of these counties are voting for the first time on local option today and all of them have heretofore been "wet." The remaining ten counties have been "dry" and in these counties the question is re-submitted to the popular vote today. The Anti-Saloon League has been carrying on a vigorous campaign all the counties in which local option is to be voted on and the leaders of the "Drys" express themselves confident that not only will the ten counties in which the question is re-submitted adhere to local option, but that also a majority of the other counties will decide to become "dry." The opponents of local option prohibition, on the other hand, are equally confident of their success. They believe that the liberal element among the voters will predominate and will refuse to support the local option proposition which is said to have given little satisfaction in the ten counties where it has been tried.

INDIANA

To Hold First State Convention
Of The Year

In The City Of Indianapolis
On Tuesday

Much Interest Manifested
In Convention

Indianapolis, Ind., April 4.—The Republican State convention will be held here tomorrow and the lobbies of the principal hotels are already scenes of political activity, particularly that of the Claypool hotel, where the most of the party leaders have their headquarters. The convention will be one of the largest ever held in Indiana. There will be 1,745 delegates. The gathering will be held in Tomlinson hall, where provision has been made to seat several thousand visitors.

Indiana does not elect a governor or lieutenant governor this year, but does elect all the other important State officers. For an off-year convention an unusual amount of interest is displayed. This is due chiefly to the fact that it is the first State convention of the year and the platform it adopts is expected to have national significance. The question asked on all sides today is: "What will the convention have to say regarding the Payne-Aldrich tariff measure and the Taft administration?"

Senator Beveridge, who will be chairman of the convention and will probably deliver the only speech of the day, is to be a candidate for reelection before the legislature which will be elected next November. The last legislature elected a Democrat, Benjamin F. Shively, to the United States senate to succeed the Republican senator, Hemenway. The Democratic victory of two years ago has given that party increased confidence and the Republican leaders realize that any serious mistake on their part in regard to platform or candidates is almost sure to result in another Democratic victory.

At the very outset they find themselves in a serious dilemma, for even the most consummate and adroit politicians in the Republican party cannot figure out how tomorrow's convention can endorse the tariff bill without repudiating Senator Beveridge. The situation is identical with that in half a dozen other states of the West, including Wisconsin, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas and Minnesota, where a sharp line of cleavage now is drawn between the insurgent Republicans and the Administration.

If it comes to the point whether either the tariff bill or Senator Beveridge must go overboard it is perfectly safe to assert that the tariff measure and not the senator will be sacrificed. The Beveridge followers will be in absolute control of the convention, so that there is little doubt but that the convention will strongly endorse the action of the Indiana senator on the tariff bill. Senator Beveridge, it will be recollected, stood firmly for revision downward and finally voted against the tariff bill. The people of Indiana are strong for revision downward, and the Republican leaders believe that Senator Beveridge has laid a firm foundation for victory.

It is possible that the convention may decide it to be the wisest course, after giving Senator Beveridge a ringing endorsement, to also endorse President Taft's administration, without any specific mention of the tariff question. This would act as a sop to the stampatters and would also be calculated to make it easier sledding for the Republicans in the coming campaign for it is reported on good authority that if the convention is too radical in its resolutions Senator Beveridge will not have the financial support of the old-time heavy and steady contributors to the Indiana campaign fund in his race for re-election.

The general feeling is that if former Senator Hemenway, former Representative Watson and other Republican leaders who are regarded as anti-Beveridge men are not satisfied with what the convention is willing to give them, then Senator Beveridge will take the bull by the horns and make anti-Aldrichism and tariff revision the chief slogan of the campaign, regardless of the effect that such action may have on national Republican politics.

Viewed from any standpoint the resolutions committee in tomorrow's convention will have an unpleasant and difficult task to perform. If the platform be devoted wholly to local questions, as some advise, the Democrats are sure to pitch their platform upon a national basis, attacking the tariff law and Republicanism generally. If the Republican platform wades into national questions and does not support the Payne law and Republicanism as construed by President Taft and the majority, then the President and those with him will have little sympathy with the battle in Indiana, and it will be a pretty safe bet also that Hemenway, Watson, Durbin and other old wheel-horses of the Republican party in this state will not lay awake nights worrying over Beveridge's chances of reelection.
